

Windwands

by Sharla Dance

The colors of the ribbons bring excitement to the room as they flutter through the air. The children are concentrating hard to get their ribbons to follow the pattern of the teacher. You can palpably feel the enthusiastic and electrical feel of energy in the room as the children move their windwands to the pattern as the teacher sings.

What are some windward patterns you can use to the beat of a song?

- Circle left, circle right
- Circle up, circle down
- Figure eight up
- Figure eight down
- Snake on the floor
- Snake up and snake down
- Over the shoulder right, over the shoulder left
- Paint the sky, paint the floor
